EXECUTIVE BIOGRAPHY: JAMES A. DIMARZIO

Title: Chief Information Officer, Information Technology, Mazda North American Operations

James A. DiMarzio is chief information officer, information technology for Mazda North American Operations. In this position, he is responsible for the strategy and planning of all internal as well as dealer-facing technology components, including maintenance and support of all hardware/software infrastructure and applications to support

Mazda U.S. Operations, Mazda Canada Inc., and Mazda Motors de Mexico.

Since joining Mazda, DiMarzio has helped to set the strategy to implement a partnership with the business areas to ensure alignment of information technology projects with the company's business strategy and goals. This strategy also promotes the search for opportunities to improve the efficiency of business operations through the use of cost-effective new technologies.

Prior to working at Mazda, DiMarzio spent 12 years at Subaru of America in various information technology roles and management positions. After working at Subaru of America, he spent five years with Land Rover as the general manager of information technology and two years with Agency Insurance Company as senior vice president and chief information officer.

DiMarzio has a bachelor's degree in Mathematics from Franklin and Marshall College, and an MBA from Rutgers University. He is married with three children and currently resides in Rancho Santa Margarita, Calif.
